

Community and Professional Development Training Program

The Maryland Center for Developmental Disabilities at Kennedy Krieger Institute

Who We Are

The Community and Professional Development Training Program offered by the Maryland Center for Developmental Disabilities (MCDD) at Kennedy Krieger Institute is committed to partnering with people with disabilities and their families, community members, health and allied health professionals, and local, state, national and international agencies to provide technical assistance, evaluation and evidence-based training across a broad spectrum of topics to improve the quality of life of people with disabilities and their families. For a list of topics covered, visit: KennedyKrieger.org/MCDDTraining

What We Do

Our goal is to support and enhance professional development opportunities for professionals and community members and expand their knowledge and skills so they may engage in effective advocacy in areas such as prevention and early intervention, mental health and disabilities, special education law, school and community engagement, human behavior and behavior supports, cross-cultural practice, and education. The MCDD provides continuing education credits to professionals.
