Kennedy Krieger—A Place Unlike Any Other in the World

Thank you for trusting us with your child's care. We understand that having your child admitted to the hospital can be a stressful experience. We have created this handbook to let you know what to expect and how to prepare both yourself and your child for your inpatient stay. Our goal is to help our patients achieve all that's possible. You are the most important member of your child's healthcare team. No one knows your child better than you do.

We offer person- and family-centered care, which means your needs, concerns, opinions and feelings matter to us. Since 1937, Kennedy Krieger Institute has been caring for children, adolescents and adults with diseases, disorders and injuries that affect the nervous system. Our research is helping treat, prevent and someday cure these disorders. Each year, we help more than 27,000 individuals in our day and outpatient clinics, special education schools, programs, and inpatient hospital.

We pledge:

- You will always be an important participant in decisions about your child's healthcare.
- We will listen and communicate clearly, honestly, quickly, completely and accurately.
- We will include your knowledge, beliefs, values and experiences in your child's care plan.
- We will use your feedback to improve how we care for our patients.

Your Child's Stay

We are here to support you before and during your child's stay with us. Here are a few things you can do to help prepare your child for the hospital:

Before Your Child's Hospital Stay

Talk with your child about what to expect:

- Ask questions like:
  - "How are you feeling?"
  - "What do you already know about staying in a hospital?"
  - "What questions do you have about staying in the hospital?"
- Talk about their feelings.
- Explain that lots of friendly people at the hospital are going to help them.
- Be honest and use language they will understand.

Other ways to help your child before admission:

- If possible, take an in-person or video tour of our hospital with your child. This can help them feel more comfortable with our staff and facilities.
- For younger patients, read a book or pretend play about going to the hospital.
- Write down your questions before your visit. Bring them with you or call us before your child is admitted to our hospital.

Questions? Contact our Patient and Family Experience Program at 443-923-3804.

We provide linens, towels and a chair bed for you. The chair bed must be made daily and returned to the chair position by 9 a.m. For safety reasons, you may not sleep in your child's hospital bed or crib. Patients may not sleep in the chair bed.

Anyone rooming-in must follow these procedures:

- Review the after-visit summary with the nurse discharging your child.
- Be prepared to stay later than 11 a.m. for any additional training that might be needed.
- Be ready to sign several documents. If your child's legal guardian cannot be present for discharge, please make prior arrangements with your social worker.

Your Child's Healthcare Team

Your child's healthcare team includes you, your child, other family members, other support people, and our doctors, nurses and other professionals. Depending on your child's needs, professionals from other disciplines (listed on the next two pages) are part of the team. We call this our interdisciplinary team.

Family-centered bedside rounds occur every morning before therapy sessions start. This is an opportunity to talk about your child's treatment plan, ask questions of your child's medical team and contribute to the plan for your child's day.

You will receive your child's schedule of appointments for the day by 8 a.m. each morning.

Questions? Contact the nurse manager at 443-923-9433.

The Medical Team includes the attending doctor and a resident doctor or nurse practitioner. The attending doctor:

- Oversees your child's individualized program and overall care
- Specializes in pediatric medicine or pediatric rehabilitation medicine

The Nursing Team cares for your child's physical, emotional and spiritual health and is very important to your child's recovery. The nursing team:

- Provides a safe and supportive environment for your child
- Combines knowledge of child growth and development with clinical skills to help your child recover
- Develops a care plan that is customized for your child
- Makes sure there is ongoing, daily communication between you and your child's medical team
- Helps your child learn (or relearn) functional skills
- Gives you the training and education you need to continue your child's recovery at home

The Interdisciplinary Team

Your child's healthcare team includes professionals from Kennedy Krieger who work with you and your child's doctors, nurses, therapists and other clinicians. This team makes sure your child has a good hospital stay and is supported when you leave the hospital. Depending on your child's medical needs, the interdisciplinary team could include multiple specialists. Here is a list of some of those specialists and what they do:

Assistive technologists, including speech-language pathologists and occupational and physical therapists, evaluate and develop treatments and equipment modifications to help patients achieve their goals and maximize their independence. Our services include assisting with power wheelchair needs, making seating and positioning modifications, and helping patients communicate and control their environment.

Audiologists identify any hearing difficulties or ear-related conditions. Audiologists use several assessment techniques to make sure your child can access speech and other sounds. They can provide hearing aids and other assistive listening devices, which may be paid for through loans, insurance coverage or additional funding.

Behavioral psychologists provide consultation, assessment and treatment for children and adolescents with coping, adjustment and behavioral difficulties. They use cognitive and behavioral therapies to help patients process and cope with injuries and illnesses, achieve developmentally appropriate independence and functioning, participate in therapies and other treatments, follow medical regimens, and improve their quality of life.

The child life team supports patients through their hospital journey. Specialists may provide self-expression activities, play opportunities, age-appropriate medical preparation, procedural support and diagnosis education. Additionally, child life specialists offer education and coping support to siblings.

Child psychiatrists provide consultation on mental health issues for patients. They offer diagnostic clarification of psychiatric disorders, acute and long-term medical management, and coordination of care between the rehabilitation team and home mental healthcare providers.

Educational specialists provide services for patients hospitalized for extended periods. Your child must be medically cleared to participate and have time in their daily schedule. Lessons are taught by Baltimore City Public Schools teachers, following the city's school-year calendar. Please bring your child's individualized education program (IEP) or 504 plan (if applicable) and any school textbooks and assignments. Our specialists will also provide assistance in returning to school and will work with you and your child's school to determine what school services your child will need.

Music therapists use instrumental play, songwriting, singing and other musical experiences to address various treatment goals. Through individual and group sessions, music therapy enhances patients' communication, cognition, sensorimotor, social and emotional needs.

Neuropsychologists specialize in patients' thinking, behavior and emotional functioning related to brain injury or dysfunction. Neuropsychologists make specific recommendations for patients' treatment, rehabilitation and education.

Nurse case managers will work closely with you to facilitate your child's admission, and will continue working with you through discharge to coordinate home care and any outpatient needs. They will also be in regular communication with your insurance company or other funding sources about your stay.

Occupational therapists will work with your child to make sure your child can participate in everyday activities like eating, dressing, grooming and toileting. Therapists focus on improving fine motor skills, daily activities, oral motor skills, positioning, school-related skills and play skills.

Physical therapists will increase your child's mobility and independence through exercises designed to help your child improve in walking, sitting and transferring in and out of positions. They can also help your child better enjoy leisure and sport activities. Therapists may recommend special equipment (e.g., walkers, orthotics and wheelchairs) for increased independence. They also educate and train patients, families and other caregivers on how to continue physical therapies after discharge.

Social workers will help you and your child meet the challenges of being in the hospital. Social workers provide individual and family counseling, locate necessary resources and provide care coordination services.

Speech-language pathologists evaluate and treat a patient's communication, language comprehension, literacy, cognitive, oral motor, feeding and swallowing skills. They develop and implement treatment goals and strategies to improve a patient's functioning.

Therapeutic recreation specialists engage patients in individual and group activities that help with treatment, adjustment and socialization. Therapeutic recreation specialists encourage patient participation in crafts, games and sports, and also help patients try new and adapted leisure activities. Community outings give patients opportunities to practice their skills in natural settings outside of the hospital environment.

Our Child Life and Therapeutic Recreation Department provides the following:

- Playroom and teen room: Supervised recreational activities are provided for patients on a daily basis, including in the evenings and on weekends.
- Special events: Guest performers and community groups frequently visit to provide entertainment for patients. Holidays, birthdays and seasonal events are also celebrated.
- Pet therapy: Visits are held with accredited pet therapy organizations.
- Community outings: Weekly outings are provided for patients, as appropriate. Destinations include bowling alleys, movie theaters, playgrounds, parks, museums, malls and other local attractions.

Kennedy Krieger Institute recognizes and respects the rights of employees, trainees, and patients and students, and their families. At Kennedy Krieger, we ground our care, services, training and research in treating others with respect and civility. We respect the cultural identity of every person. Kennedy Krieger does not discriminate against people based on, but not limited to, perceived or actual race, color, culture, ethnicity, national origin, age, language spoken, accent, marital status, veteran or military status, immigration status, socioeconomic status (i.e., access to resources), physical or mental disability, religion, pregnancy status, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity or expression. We strive for equitable care for all individuals for whom we provide services, training, education and research participation. We encourage employees, trainees, and patients and students, and their families, to become active partners in the services provided by asking questions, seeking resources and advocating for their needs. Our culture of care is extended to our patients, the patients' family members and other persons served. Here, "family" refers to parents, other family members, guardians, surrogate decision-makers and healthcare agents. © 2023 Kennedy Krieger Institute 4/23
